

REQUEST FOR PARTICIPATION IN GLOBAL PEANUT INFORMATION NETWORK

Dear Peanut Researcher:

The World Geography of the Peanut Project (Peanut CRSP) has created a new interactive website which offers a wide range of services to peanut growers, researchers, development practitioners, and policy makers. Please click on <http://lanra.anthro.uga.edu/peanut> to view our new site and some of its features. Our goal is to make the peanut web as complete as possible and responsive to user needs. To accomplish this, however, we need your help. We know that many of you have in your files or knowledge of the whereabouts of useful data, reports (published or gray literature), trip reports, photographs, and other information sources. Our job is to pull together as much of this information as possible and make it available to as wide an audience as possible.

We would appreciate it if you could provide us answers to the following questions:

1. Do you or your collaborators have any country reports, articles describing peanut systems or production zones, trip reports, or other descriptions of peanuts in developing countries? Please specify countries or topics.

2. Do you have any useful datasets that you would like shared with other peanut scientists? Please specify

3. Do you have any multimedia materials you would like to see stored and available on the website (film clips, photos, maps, etc.)?

4. How could we obtain the materials listed in #1, 2, and 3 above? Please give name, address, email and phone number (if possible) of contact person

5. What kind of peanut-specific information would you like to see stored and retrievable on the global peanut website?
